PLAYER ASSIGNMENT

Up to five players can enjoy NFL™ QUARTERBACK CLUB™ '96. Each player's controller is color coded to help you identify who controls which team or player. In a multi-player game, the player with the lowest controller number on each team is the default quarterback, while the rest of the players are assigned positions by the computer. Players can switch which player they control in all modes.

PRACTICE MODE

Practice Mode gives you the chance to hone your skills in actual game play situations. In practice mode, you bring a 10 man team onto the field for Offensive, Defensive or Special Teams practice. Bring in your favorite team and transform yourself into a virtual winning machine! You can even create your own team of custom players! Bring in a custom player and rev up his attributes by running him through skill-enhancing drills. Save a custom player's enhanced skills, then bring him into Preseason mode! You can practice tackling, receiving, kicking, passing—any situation your 10 team members may face.

Once you select Practice mode, you will see a screen featuring each player's controller, and to the right, the team you will bring into training. Each player in turn presses LEFT or RIGHT on the CONTROL PAD to scroll through the available teams until the desired team appears. Initially, there will be spots for 5 custom teams. Any custom team is available to any player, as are all 30 NFL™ teams. Highlight NO TRAINING if you don't wish to participate in training. Press the START BUTTON to select a team. If you've chosen a custom team, you will then see the Custom Team/ Player screens. Otherwise you will go straight to the practice category screen.

In a Team practice, player(s) choose which team to control in any of the many available practice scenarios, all of which can be repeated until mastered. You'll be using the actual NFL™ players on each team.

In a Custom practice, you can create up to 10 custom players. Perform successfully in a practice event to increase a custom player's attribute level. The difficulty at which you play determines the level of attribute increase, with Very Easy contributing some increase and Very Hard a substantial amount.

CREATING A CUSTOM PLAYER

Now you're ready to build a powerhouse team! This screen is where you create or modify your team of 10 custom players. The first player position to appear is the quarterback—hey, it's not called the NFL™ Quarterback Club™ for nothing! Press LEFT or RIGHT on the CONTROL PAD to scroll through player positions. Press UP or DOWN on the CONTROL PAD to highlight the various option boxes and the Y or B Button to cycle through each associated option. You can set which hand a player throws with, which foot he kicks with, his skin tone, number and uniform. Note that once a uniform is set, all team members will automatically share that color. View On Screen help for details on how to set your options.

If you choose not to create a player for one of the positions, the computer will supply a default player. Once you've set or modified your custom team options, the team is ready to bring into practice. Press the START button to get to the Category Screen.

THE PRACTICE CATEGORY SCREEN: OFFENSE, DEFENSE OR SPECIAL TEAMS

Practice mode is broken up into three broad practice categories, each with several option branches that open up still richer areas of practice options. Press the CONTROL PAD to highlight the desired practice category, then press the B BUTTON to select it and set the practice options specific to the chosen category. To jump right into Offensive, Defensive or Special Teams practice at the default settings, press the START BUTTON. If Quit is highlighted, pressing START will bring you to the quit screen, from which you can view a Custom Progress Report detailing the attributes status of all your custom players.

CUSTOM PROGRESS REPORT

To use pause options, press the START BUTTON when on the field. You can then choose from the following options. Press UP or DOWN on the CONTROL PAD to highlight an option, and the B BUTTON to select it.

Press the START BUTTON again to return to practice.

Once you've selected Preseason mode, you'll need to choose your team. See choosing Teams for details. See Change Quarterback (page 17) for details, then follow the Game Time instructions.

SWITCH PLAYER ASSIGNMENT

The computer automatically assigns which player you will control, based on controller number. The lowest controller number on each team controls the quarterback. In all modes, before the snap, the offense can switch which position player you control by pressing the LEFT or RIGHT TRIGGER to scroll through your team's formation. The colored arrow of your controller will move to the various players. If the player controlling the quarterback switches control to another position (by pressing up on the CONTROL PAD), the computer will take over control of the quarterback, but the player who controlled the quarterback is still responsible for making the snap, regardless of his new position. Only the player who originally had control of the quarterback can regain it. If you're a receiver, press the A BUTTON to call for the ball.

NEW SEASON

Use this mode to begin a fresh season, and guide your team all the way to gridiron glory in the Super Bowl! In season mode, only your team (at left) can be selected; the computer controls your opponents throughout the season. After selecting your team, press the B BUTTON. You will then see a screen featuring your season schedule. Don't like the season schedule your team has this year? Press LEFT or RIGHT on the CONTROL PAD to change the year (and thus, the schedule). Play in a future season, right up to the year 9999!

SAVING A SEASON SCHEDULE

When you've viewed your schedule, press the B BUTTON. You will then see the Save screen, where you can save your place in up to five season schedule slots. If all five slots are full and you wish to save the current season, you must erase one of the existing seasons to do so. Highlight the slot you wish to save to. You will be asked if you wish to overwrite that season. Press the B BUTTON to do so. After a season game, save your place in the same way. Use the Resume Season feature to get back into the game at a later time.

SEASON STANDINGS

After each season game, a screen appears showing you the league standings. Press LEFT or RIGHT on the CONTROL PAD to switch between AFC and NFC standings. When you're through viewing standings, press the B BUTTON to see your season schedule, featuring your next opponent.

Once you've set your season schedule, press the START BUTTON. Set your player controller selection, set your game play choices, then rip into the schedule! See you in the Super Bowl!

RESUME SEASON

Use this mode to pick up seasonal play where you left off last time. Once this mode is selected, you will go to the Restore screen, where you can choose which of up to five stored seasons you wish to pick up. Once you've chosen the season you wish to resume, you can view both the Season Standings, complete with divisional win/loss records, and the saved Season Schedule.

ENTER PLAYOFFS

Use this mode to set up a play off bracket on the way to the Super Bowl. Skip right to the Playoffs, and try to earn the coveted championship! As in a New Season game, you select only the team you'll be controlling. Once you've set your team, press the B BUTTON to see the playoff tree. Can't stand it? Pick a different year. When you're satisfied, save your playoff tree, make your player control selections and other decisions, then it's up the play off ladder—to the top!

PRO BOWL

Use this mode to pit the best of the AFC against their league rivals in the NFC in an all-star Pro Bowl game! You will see a screen with AFC and NFC matchups. At the player select screen, move your controller under the team you wish to be on. When the very best in the game meet to prove themselves, you'll be playing for pride! Can you beat the top talent in the opposing conference?

PLAY BOOK

PLAY PLAQUES

Each play in NFL™ Quarterback Club™ is diagrammed on a play plaque. To help you understand the diagrams, a brief legend appears below.

ON OFFENSIVE PLAQUES:

A CIRCLE denotes a player. The circle represents where the player is positioned at the start of a play.

A YELLOW LINE indicates pass routes.

A SOLID CIRCLE denotes the player who will actually end up running or passing the ball.

A LINE denotes the direction/ position the player should move in/ to.

A DOTTED LINE denotes a Pitch or Hand off.

A LINE CROSSED WITH A T junction denotes both the position and direction of a Block.

A LINE WITH AN ARROW indicates that the player should continue in the direction of the arrow for the maximum distance the play allows.

ON DEFENSIVE PLAQUES:

A TRIANGLE denotes a Lineman at the line of scrimmage. This player will remain near the scrimmage line.

A SQUARE denotes a Linebacker. This player is most often responsible for containing any offensive penetration of the defensive line.

M indicates a Monster Back. This player is generally the team's most versatile linebacker. His size allows him to defend the run, but he can also help with coverage schemes.

C indicates a Corner Back. This player tends to have the best speed in the defensive backfield, and as a general rule is responsible for covering one of the wide receivers.

S indicates a Safety. This player is generally involved in the coverage scheme, and usually is responsible for keeping the last line of defense.

N indicates a Nickel Back. This player is an extra defensive back. Used in passing situations for extra coverage or for a surprise blitz.

D indicates a Dime Back. This player is a second extra defensive back used to further bolster pass coverage.

A LINE WITH AN ARROW denotes a player should move and continue in that direction.

A DOTTED LINE equals man to man coverage.

A ZIG ZAG LINE indicates a pre-hike shift.

A YELLOW OVAL at the end of a line denotes Zone coverage. As a rule, defenders in underneath zones will defend this zone, and not leave it to pursue an offensive player unless it's clear that surrounding coverage has failed and there is no one else able to cover him. Backs in deep zones are usually responsible for the first receiver to enter their zones.

YARDAGE SITUATIONS

Offensive and defensive plays are divided into Short, Medium, Long and Bomb Zone yardage situations, with many plays from each formation under each. For example, in a Short yardage situation, in a Pro Set formation, the offense can choose from at least seven different plays. Below is a brief outline of some of the characteristics of each yardage situation.

SHORT

Short yardage situations include anything from 0-15 yards.

OFFENSE

PASSING — Patterns tend to emphasize evasion and expert timing.

RUNNING — Short yardage situations call for power plays, and tend to favor the bigger men: Full backs and Halfbacks especially.

DEFENSE

PASSING — In defending against the pass in short yardage situations, linebackers and defensive backs must establish coverage close to the line while keeping the backfield covered—a tough assignment.

RUNNING — Defense is similar to that for short passing situations, but with greater emphasis on covering the line.

MEDIUM

Medium yardage situations include anything from 15-35 yards.

OFFENSE

PASSING — Passing patterns in medium situations are likely to have the receiver breaking at a point double that of Short yardage plays. Speed becomes more important.

RUNNING — Misdirection plays a greater part in the Medium yardage running game, with increasing use of trap and pull blocks.

DEFENSE

PASSING — In many Medium yardage situations, pass coverage means intense line penetration coupled with plenty of depth coverage from the defensive backs, who must still be wary of the short play.

RUNNING — Defending against the run in a medium yardage situation requires the defense to be especially watchful of the offensive line and secondary as they try to draw the defense into misreading the play and committing costly blunders.

LONG

Long yardage situations include anything from 35 - 50 yards.

OFFENSE

PASSING — Long yardage passing plays are NOT desperation plays, but soundly structured play patterns that often result in dramatic gains.

RUNNING — The Draw and the Delay are favorites for the long running game, as fooling the defense into expecting a pass becomes essential to the success of a long run play.

DEFENSE

PASSING — Getting burned on a long pass play is a defensive back's nightmare. Defending the secondary is the name of game here. It's important to get an accurate read before committing.

RUNNING — Another situation where the offense will be faking the pass in order to gain big on the ground. Defenders must be vigilant at the line.

BOMB ZONE

Bomb Zone situations include anything over 50 yards.

OFFENSE

Passing: These are the routes that QBs would love to complete each time, but when all factors are thrown in, they tend to be the toughest.

Rushing: As with the LONG plays, when the defense is expecting the long ball, a wise offense can fool the defense into leaving a lot of running room open.

DEFENSE

Passing: These are the plays that can help your defense stop that ever-deadly deep ball threat!

Rushing: As with LONG plays, these are designed to keep the threat of draw and delay plays to a minimum.

OFFENSIVE PLAYBOOK

The Offensive Playbook in NFL™ Quarterback Club™ is extensive. The plays use six different offensive formations, which apply differently in Short, Medium, Long, and Bomb Zone yardage situations. The formations are as follows:

PRO SET

The Pro Set is perhaps the most popular offensive lineup in the NFL™. In this setting, a fullback and a halfback line up beside each other behind the quarterback.

FAR/ NEAR

This variation of the Pro Set has two alignments. The Far side aligns your backs on the weak side of the line, an ideal formation for misdirection runs. The Near alignment puts your backs on the strong side of the line, and is excellent for power running.

I FORMATION

In the I formation, two backs line up directly behind the quarterback. This formation is popular for running sweeps and dives.

SHOTGUN

The shotgun is a passing formation in which the quarterback is set back about five yards from the center, giving him plenty of scrambling room and time to find open receivers.

SINGLE BACK

With just a single back, an additional receiver can be put on the line, forcing the defense to spread out. This formation is useful for both runs and passes.

DOUBLE TIGHT END

This strong running formation places the center of power on the scrimmage line, and can prove a powerful alignment for a variety of play types.

DEFENSIVE PLAYBOOK

The Defensive Playbook in NFL™ Quarterback Club™ '96 features six popular defensive formations, which have multiple play options in all yardage situations.

The 6 - 2 defense features six linemen and 2 linebackers. It is a potent defense against the run.

This formation features three down linemen and four linebackers and is very effective against short and medium passes, as well as the run.

The 4 -3 features a standard alignment of two tackles and two ends as down linemen (the four), with three linebackers. Appropriate against runs and short passes.

This formation often uses a monster back and is a strong run defense, as well as helping in short zone pass coverage.

NICKEL

The Nickel defense gets its name from the addition of an extra defensive back, making for five. This makes for effective pass coverage in a situation where a pass is likely. It can also be useful for disguising a blitz as a coverage play.

DIME

The Dime has backfire potential in it, as the defense opts to add yet another defensive back. Generally used when a pass is a virtual certainty, as it can leave the defense vulnerable to the run.

PENALTIES

OFFSIDES

5 yard penalty. No offensive player may cross the line of scrimmage before the ball is snapped. A defensive player must be on his side of the ball when it is snapped, and may not touch an opposing player prior to the snap.

DELAY OF GAME

5 yard penalty, plus repeat of down. The offense must hike the ball before the 40 second play clock expires.

PASS INTERFERENCE

Defensive pass interference penalty is first down at point of interference. Offensive pass interference penalty is a 10 yard penalty from the line of scrimmage. No player may interfere with a receiver before he catches the ball. This penalty can be turned off.

KICK OFF OUT OF BOUNDS: ILLEGAL PROCEDURE

If a kickoff goes out of bounds without either team touching it, the receiving team may take possession at their own 40 yard line or at the yard line where the kick went out of bounds, whichever is better for them. This penalty can be turned off.
